1. Initially the Examiner would like to note that she inadvertently included claim 9 in the claims that were withdrawn from consideration. In fact, claim 9 depends upon claim 1 and should have been grouped with claims 1 to 7 and claim 21. This is an obvious oversight (note that claim 8 was present between two claims that were withdrawn from consideration and also note that this error was not brought to the Examiner's attention by applicants' representative during the telephonic restriction requirement). Applicants apparently believe that the patentability of claim 9 depends upon the patentability of claim 1 (since claim 9 is not separately argued or addressed in the response). As such this claim will now be joined with claims 1 to 7 and 21 to 23 in the rejection below.

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1 to 7, 9 and 21 to 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Inoue et al.

In an effort to overcome this rejection, applicants have inserted the phrase "consisting essentially of" into the claim. They state that this phrase is intended to mean that the composition is absent an epoxy and hardening agent, which are found in Inoue et al. However applicants place the wrong interpretation on the phrase "consisting essentially of". The phrase "consisting essentially of" limits the scope of a claim to the specified materials or steps "and those that do not materially affect the basic and novel characteristic(s)" of the claimed invention. This phrase does not limit the scope of the claims haphazardly to whatever may be present in the prior art that applicants wish to exclude. Applicants must establish that whatever ingredients are present in the prior art but not specifically claimed materially affect the basic and novel characteristics of the claimed invention. It is not sufficient to show that they are required in the prior art or would materially affect the basic and novel characteristics of the prior art. Applicants have not met the burden of proof required by this phrase and as such this rejection is maintained.

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
